
ron paul and his texas sized ego

Posted by big eddie - 2008/09/15 16:04

c-span had it right they called it the rally for ron paul. He has shown that it is all about him. He received less than 50 delegates to the gop convention and feels he should make the rules. He will never be a major player in the gop because he is held in very light regard. He has a very weak record in congress and is not considered a leader. His rally was for those people who drank his cool-aid. He is one person who can not be trusted. His staff has been nothing but scornful to barr. Personally barr does nothing for me but paul seems to enjoy playing one group against the other and supporting noone but himself. The lp should get smart and forget about this phoney, he will never do anything for anyone but himself.

=====