
Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by Jay Edgar - 2008/06/18 16:19

This thread discusses the Content article: Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Jason is a great candidate. I'm sure he will have much luck and will do a great job as our candidate.

Exactly how one becomes a "Clean" candidate by accepting dirty money I don't quite understand. Hopefully we won't be forced into taking dirty money this election.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by big eddie - 2008/08/25 23:12

He may be a good candadate, but if stays only in the white suburbs no one will know about him.He must campaign in the major cities to pick up recognition.The lp is basically a party mainly in the white suburbs.There is no presence in hudson or essex or the other counties with major cities.Until the lp can break into the urban areas it will not win any state wide elections.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by Kevin Ferrizzi - 2008/09/05 15:16

I think you are right about that one. The object of getting elected is getting your message out to as many people as possible as quickly and cheaply as possible. So far Jason has been one of most active recent candidates doing multiple tv and radio appearances and getting some print and internet traffic.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by big eddie - 2008/09/22 00:05

The only way to get votes is to go where the people are.Doing radio interviews in safe little studios will not get you votes.It seems to me libertarian candadates are afraid to come into the cities and meet the people.It seems most of the campaign stops are in nice little white suburbs.I guess the lp candadates have no solutions for city people.The cities are where the votes are.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by big eddie - 2008/09/22 00:07

I see my so called karma has dropped dramatically, that is good. I donot believe in karma anyway.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by Kevin Ferrizzi - 2008/09/22 13:12

I hope that Lautenberg and Zimmer respond to Scheurer's challenge to debate across the state. I doubt it, seeing as Lautenberg won't even answer basic questions from the media or agree to debate Zimmer.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by Amani S - 2008/10/04 06:36

Low karma eddie. You are right, but what would you like him to do? Can you line him up some dates in those areas? Have you contacted the campaign with these ideas?

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by zerostomia - 2008/10/20 00:42

Scheurer needs to work on his public addresses. I aint no toastmaster, but his responses sound a little.....rehearsed. Maybe it's me.

But on a different note, does it bother anyone else that he hasn't completed votesmart.org 's Political Courage Test? When pushing anybody to political resources online, votesmart.org is always the site I bring up. He'd be the second of 7 people to fill it out among the people running for Senate. It doesn't seem like anyone has anything to lose by completing the survey.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by Kevin Ferrizzi - 2008/10/21 15:46

I agree. All candidates should fill it out to let the citizens know where they stand on the issues.

=====

Re:Jason Scheurer in NJ Senate Race

Posted by Reform Jake - 2008/12/05 13:45

New Jersey is a tough state to campaign if you don't appear at the summer/spring festivals that occur mostly through out lower central and southern Jersey. We live in a state that is complete hustle and bustle and nobody will stop for a neighbor especially in the North. That is why you need to insert a strategy of not attending "rallies" or brunches but festivals in townships.

By the way, I voted for Mr. Brooks in the senate race. Scheurer was my second choice though.

=====