
Warning!! Univeral Healthcare Coming To Jersey!!

Posted by Officegig - 2008/03/20 00:46

This thread discusses the Content article: Warning!! Univeral Healthcare Coming To Jersey!!

Total implosion is eminent. Housing will be very cheap in this state in the next ten years. Maybe the whole place will be a slum.

=====

Re:Warning!! Univeral Healthcare Coming To Jersey!!

Posted by Kevin Ferrizzi - 2008/03/29 22:34

What I do not understand is that the majority of citizens, including doctors, that I have spoken to personally and have posted in blogs know that there is no way we can afford it. They say things like "that would be great, but there's just no way...". Everyone knows its the insurance companies that are the problem. If the government is going to do anything about health care, they should devise ways to encourage people to invest privately in their own livelyhood. Looking into malpractice lawsuit reforms, asset sharing/distribution, technological advancements, and many other things is needed to devise logical ways to make health care affordable.

=====